Calendar Year Performance vs S&P/TSX TR

Growth of $10,000 Since Inception

The HGC Fund LP Class “F” units returned +0.41% in March vs +4.14% for the TSX Total Return.

March was an active month for the Fund, with the returns driven mainly by Merger Arbitrage.

First was the imminent closing of Pembina Pipelines’ (PPL) $3.1B acquisition of Enbridge’s interests in the Alliance, Aux Sable and NRGreen joint ventures. To partially finance the acquisition, PPL issued $1.28B of subscription receipts through a bought deal public offering in December 2023. The Fund was able to purchase the sub receipts throughout the life of the deal while simultaneously shorting out the common stock to lock in the spread. With the receipt of a no-action letter (NAL) from the Canadian Competition Bureau, all conditions for closing were satisfied during the month of March, and the spread subsequently collapsed allowing the Fund to realize a nice gain.

Elsewhere the Fund realized profits from the closing of Bristol-Myers Squibb’s US$14B acquisition of schizophrenia drugmaker Karuna Therapeutics (KRTX) for $330 per share. The Fund initiated a position in January, with the main conditions to closing being a positive shareholder vote and competition clearance under the HSR act. With minimal overlap between BMY and KRTX, the Fund was confident the deal would avoid a second request and close shortly after the March 12th shareholder vote. After the expiration of the HSR waiting period on March 13th, KRTX traded up very close to the $330 per share consideration before officially closing on March 18th, generating a 28% annualized return for the Fund.
